Agitation is Spreading and Number of American Villages Have Been Surrounded.

(By Associated Press.) ST. PETERSBURG, June 22.—Bands of insurgents in the district of Scharonkhau, province of Erivan, Transcaucasia, recently sacked and burned four Armenian villages. Subsequently the insurgents surrounded and attacked Owllanoraschau. The inhabitants of the town repulsed the pesiegers, killing a hundred of the Cossacks and other troops stationed at the village of Khouloundian, also repulsed an ttack of the insurgents on that place, inflicting enormous losses on them and

From independent sources, the Associated Press confirms the statement of the Russ that Count Cassini will have no part in the peace negotiations.

The question of a temporary suspension of hostillites seems to rest with Japan. In the meantime the chancellors of St. Petersburg and Tokio are occupied with the selection of the pienipotenilaries. It cannot now be regarded as settled that they number three on each side.

An important consideration requiring adjustment is the desire of each country to appoint negotiators of equal rank and this increases the probability that M. Witte, president of the committee of ministers, may be one of the Russian plenipotenilaries if Japan names the Marquis Ito, president of the Japanese privy council.

Major Anderson further said: "In connection with the finding of the board in the matter of Julian F Thomas and J. A. McGlivray, the board directs the following statement to be placed on record: "Prior to 1886, and under Dr. Ruffner's administration. White's Register, at a cost of one dollar each, was largely used in the State. In 1886 the Virginia School Register, edited by Mr. L. R. Holland, first clerk under Superintendent Buchanan, and published by J. W. Randolph and Company, at the price of seventy-five cents per copy, was, upon the approval of Superintendent Buchanan, adopted by the Board of Education and successively continued in use until 1888.

"In 1893 a register published by the James E. Goode Printing Company was adopted by the board, upon the approval of the superintendent of public instruction, at the same price, no other register being offered to the board at that time. It was not then known by the board that Mr. Julian P. Thomas or Mr. John A. McGlivray or anybody clse other than the said printing house, had any interest or connection whatever with the said register.

"In 1904 the present State Board of Education, finding this register in use in the expediency and energy, set, about to ascertain all the facts relating thereto, and the resolutions adopted show the facts found and conclusions reached."

No Mixing of Names.

As soon as the board had heard the reading of the report, Governor Montague, prsiding, reminded the board that the report was before them and asked what was their pleasure. He suggested that the report be taken up and considered by sections, and this suggestion was at once adopted.

No trouble was encountered until the third section of the findings was reached. In this were incorporated the words, "first succeded by John T. West Printing Company, about 1898, and they in turn were." In the brief history of the school register, Mr. John T. West, of Norfolk county, a member of the State Board, but in no way related to the John T. West, of the printing company, who is a Richmond man, asked that this part of the resolution be stricken out as unnecessary and as calculated to create the impress on that he (the member of the board) had formerly heen interested in printing, he register. The suggestion caused a laugh, but encountered no objection and was stricken out by consent.

The other sections were then adopted until that numbered 2 was reached. At this point Mr. John Garland Pollard, counsel for Mr. L. H. Jenkins, of the Hermitage Press, arose and called attention to the fact that the wording of the readulations created the impression that the L. L. Printing Company, as now constituted, knew of the connection of Messrs. McGilvray and Thomas and knew that it was unlawful to enter into contract with them. This, he said, did the firm an injustice, which he did not believe the board intended to do, and he asked that the resolution be so amended as to remove this impression. Finally, on motion of Mr. West, amended by Governor Montague, the words, "but that there was no evidence before us to show that the board intended to an amendment or insertion setting out that the board had adopted the Holland register. This was approved.

Ladies Will Have the Floor at the Skating Rink.

THE SKAUING KIIIK.

No men need apply to-night for skates in the skating rink until after 10 o'clock, as the management has determined that this, the first ladies' night, shall be devoted exclusively to the fair sex, except where excorts are with them. The ladies are to be given every opportunity to have the floor without being disturbed by any men unless the ladies bring the men with them.

Stein's orchestra will play appropriate airs for waltzes, glides and other skating figures. All ladies' skates have been olled for the occasion, and nothing has been left undone that the management could do for the benefit of the fair patrons of the rink. As more of the ladies become proficient in skating they are showing their appreciation of the consideration shown them by their regular attendance in the afternoon. Every other evening this week the floor will be reserved for the ladies and their escorts from 8 to 9:15.

Fine Tennis Playing.

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, June 22.—The American International Lawn Tennis team is playing grand tennis at the Queen's Club, easily defeating all comers. The form the Americans are showing preceding the all-England championships international matches and the other events in which they are entered is already causing norvousness among the English, continental and colonial cracks.

The service and net play of the Americans seem to be a revelation to the English players. This has been particularly noticeable in the doubles in which Beals C. Appalling Scenes. Appalling Scenes.

The scenes following the wreck were appalling. The night was dark, save for the light from the blazing wreck of the coach that was crushed and splintered on top of the engine.

Men swarmed about it combatting the flames with the means at hand, groping their way through the blinding, scalding pleam that roce in clouds, hunting for the

their way through the bilnding, scalding steam that roce in clouds, hunting for the injured, whose piteous cries were such as obliled the hearts of those who heard them. The water supply was small and the means at hand for fighting the flames were pitifully inadequate, but the zeal of the rescuers wrought great things for the first few minutes.

Pullman Conductor J. J. O'Neill, with his force of porters, did vallant work in helping to care for the injured as they were taken from the week. Bedding, blankets and sheets were stripped from the bunks of the four Pullman coaches and used for the relief of the sufferers.

Boy May Have Done It.

Boy May Have Done It.

It is possible the investigation to-morrow will develop that a boy meddled with the switch at Montor last night and caused the wreck of the Twentieth Century Limited. William Usher, ticket agent at Nickel Plate road, and James Barnes, of Willoughly, reached the wreck twenty minutes after it occurred. On the way to the wreck they met a boy carrying a lantern. The boy said that he had ben down to shut a switch. The men went on to the wreck and found the switch open and locked. The men were of the opinion that the boy thought there was a freight shead of the Twentieth Century and opened the switch to let it through to take a siding.

H. S. Storrs, general superintendent of the Lake Shore, said that the clue would be investigated to-morrow, although he is inclined to doubt the story that a boy had possession of a key and could turn the syitch.

CHICAGO, June 22.—The following of ficial report of the wreck was telegraphed to-day by Vice-President Brown, of the New York Central lines, to President W. H. Newman, at New York:

"Train No. 10, eastbound, passed Mentor at 8:35 P. M., at which time the switches were all set for the main line. No. 26 followed No. 10, fifty minutes behind her, and no trains passed Mentor in either direction between the time No. 10 passed there and the arrival of No. 25. The operator was on the platform with two men, named James Collins and W. M. the operator went into the office and remained until about the time No. 28 was due, when he again went out on the platform and saw No. 26 coming, two or three miles away.

"The operator says that he looked at the switch lights, and they were white, and the switches were properly set for the main track. He then returned to the office.

"If this is correct, between that time and the time No. 26 headed in on the side track, some one threw the switch for the siderack and locked it in that position.

"The No. 26 headed in the full length of the train on the house track, the engine leaving the rails about four coach lengths from the switch crashing into the freight house, setting it on fire and turning the engine end for end, and telescoping the composite car, which took fire from the burning freight house.

"The conductor of No. 26 immediately examined the switch and called the attention of General Passenger Agent W. J. Lynch, of the Big Four, who was on the train, to the fact that it was set and locked for the side track and the light extinguished.

"The switch is not damaged and worked perfectly after the accident. The composite car, which was telescoped by the engine, was burned. No other cars in No. 26's turned over. "Every possible effort is being made to locate the party who misplaced the switch.
